Alcohol treatment is a must. How often we drink it as an addiction without realizing its gripping power over us. Alcohol as an addiction is capable of ruining us emotionally as well as physically. Hence, before it turns into the controlling force in our lives, we have to bring it under control and take the reins of our lives in our own hands. To help us, thousands of rehabilitation centers are spread out throughout the country.

Research shows that usually different types of treatment programs are used by the rehabilitation centers to wipe out the addiction completely. First a detoxification plan to remove harmful substances and alcohol from the body is chosen. Depending upon the intensity of the addiction, various methods are used: inpatient, outpatient, or residential treatment; group or individual counseling; doctor-prescribed drugs or medications to prevent relapse; and other factors. Alcohol treatment centers also require the individuals to stay there and recover completely, which includes improvement on a physical as well as a mental level.

Usually with treatment, the best alcohol treatment centers also provide ongoing care and careful supervision and introduction to other recover groups - even after the recovery of an alcoholic patient.

Many, many centers exist to offer helpful and effective treatment against alcoholism. Some of them are Sober Living by the Sea, Spencer Recovery Centers, Drug and Alcohol Rehab Services, Hazelden, Starlite Recovery Center, Promises Treatment Centers, Comeback Treatment, Brookside Institute, The Bridge to Recovery, Recovery Center, Mount Regis Center, Support Systems Homes, Newport Coast Recovery, and Connor Ranch.

Some other detox centers are the Tarzana Treatment Centers, Home Detox of California, and Pat Moore Foundation.

Before trying out any medication, Hazelden conducts an accurate and detailed diagnosis of individuals and only thereafter, prescribes and uses a proper treatment procedure for its patients.

Drug and Alcohol Rehab Services and Narcanon Southern California provide after-care treatment in case of any relapse within six months of treatment without any further charge.
